

Back to school story

I am going back to school again soon.

Lots of us have been at home doing our school work...and some other fun things too!

I will see my friends and my teachers again soon.

It is now safe to be back in school but I must wash my hands regularly and do everything I can to help keep everyone safe.

I cannot hug my friends or teachers or even hold their hands.

Here is a video I can watch to help me understand this...

I can also find out about some fun ways to greet others safely, using this link...

Playtimes and lunchtimes will be at different times so that we have lots of space to eat and play safely.

These things will stop germs from spreading and keep us all safe.

We will do all of our usual learning but in shorter sessions to start with, and with extra breaks, circle times and mindfulness sessions to give us lots of time to talk and listen to each other.

If I am worried about anything I can talk to an adult in school.

We are looking forward to seeing you soon!
