Why I became a Governor	The governor role at Endon Hall is an opportunity for me to utilise my experience, knowledge and skills gained through working in the education sector. I have held various governor roles in other schools over many years and I enjoy being of service to a school community.
The day job!	I teach in a Secondary school, leading on Personal Development and teaching PSHE across KS3 and KS4.
What do I contribute?	Prior to teaching in secondary, I also taught in Further Education and primary schools. I have a broad knowledge of strategic school development and have experience of managing many issues faced by schools. I hope to be able to use this knowledge and experience to the benefit of Endon Hall.
Do I have children at the school?	No, my own children are in secondary education.
